

Emma Camp and Caroline Treinen
Explorer Poem
October 3, 2007

*This Poor Fellow lived and died at sea.
He seemed to have awful luck.
He always seemed to meet a storm.
He was always searching for Shmuck*

*At a young age he began to trade ivory,
His personality was very lively.
The first European to see the Cape of Good Hope,
He had two caravels, which is a really nice boat.*

*His name is Dias.
His nose is as long as a rose.
He was really sly this is no lie.
Oh my, he was a really nice guy!*
